Headline:
Low cloud lifting to give bright or sunny spells today.

Today:
Early low cloud and fog soon lifting to give way to a generally fine and dry day. Brightening up through the morning, with some warm sunny spells developing in the afternoon, especially inland. Cooler and cloudier along North Sea coasts. Maximum temperature 22 deg C (72 deg F).

Tonight:
Low cloud and fog drifting back in from off the North Sea overnight, which may produce some patchy light rain and drizzle at times. Dry with some clear spells elsewhere. Minimum temperature 11 deg C (52 deg F).

Wednesday:
A rather cloudy and damp start, especially along North Sea coasts and hills. Drier and brighter elsewhere. Thicker cloud and patchy rain and drizzle arriving along North Sea coasts later. Maximum temperature 21 deg C (70 deg F).

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:
Cloudy and damp start on Thursday, then drier and brighter later and feeling cooler. Fine and dry with sunny spells on Friday and Saturday. Feeling cool along North Sea coasts.
